OUR EXPERIENCE

Owner-Operators

- Elizabeth Goel (Owner/ Culinary Design): Started Bite Catering Couture in 2007 after graduating from Barnard College and French Culinary Institute with a brief start in advertising. A stint at Danny Meyer's Union Square Cafe shaped her focus on hospitality. She medaled on Food Network Challenge's Big Bash Caterers in 2008. She has led its growth into a multi-million dollar company recognized for editorial presentation, seamless hospitality, and creative menu design with clients across luxury, tech, finance, fashion, academia, and philanthropy
- Vijay Goel (Co-owner/ COO): Former physician (M.D.), strategy consultant (McKinsey), startup/ nonprofit executive, and technologist. He brings Fortune 500 rigor in leading Bite's focus on industry-leading operational and technical excellence for high stakes/ large scale events and the award-winning renovation of 440 Elm. He loves figuring out how to enhance connection and experience by eliminating errors, friction, and lines. He is a speaker at industry conferences, including Catersource, The Special Event, BeSage, WeddingMBA

FLEXIBILITY TO REFLECT YOU

CREATING MEMORIES AS UNIQUE AS YOUR STORY. BEAUTIFULLY BROUGHT TO LIFE

The first time I walked into the now Grand Ballroom at 440 Elm, it took my breath away. There was this gorgeous ceiling and chandeliers and windows that no one else knew was there. It wasn't in great shape then, but I could see in its bones an exquisite ballroom for gorgeous celebrations. As a caterer who helps clients find venues and create beautiful events, I knew we had the chance to create a place that made people feel a sense of wonder and joy.

Now (after an award-winning, multi-year renovation focused on repair and adaptive reuse) that initial vision has become a reality. Our newly restored historic landmark is ready to be filled with your stories, your traditions, and your guests for your one-of-a-kind celebration.

What I love most about my role is tailoring your wedding to reflect a celebration perfect for the two of you at its heart. I've intentionally designed our approach to blend gracious hospitality with creative freedom. With your wedding as the only event onsite, you're able to curate distinct experiences across our different spaces, and our all-day access provides ample time to bring in all the thoughtful details and personal touches you envision.

Couture catering has been in our DNA from the very start. It means that your menu (including bar and service) extends the personal feeling of the overall celebration. I love to bring in touches that draw from your experiences and memories. Tell me about dishes that evoke grandma's kitchen, remind you of a special anniversary dinner, recognize comfort of favorite hangouts, or remind of flavors from your travels abroad. We have a talented chef team (including multiple Culinary Institute of America graduates) able to bring your selected menu and custom requirements up to meet the highest wedding and hospitality standards.

That's the heart of my approach. Starting with your story, I work with the other creatives on your team (planner, designer, producer) to craft everything from there—menus that speak to your family, intentional levels of service, effortless flow. We'll ensure every element feels cohesive, well-designed, and unmistakably yours.

— Elizabeth (Owner & Culinary Design - 440 Elm/ Bite Catering Couture)
